

IMPERIAL REGIONAL DETENTION FACILITY RECEIVES NATIONAL HEALTHCARE ACCREDITATION

December 8, 2017 – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

(CALEXICO, California) – The Imperial Regional Detention Facility is pleased to announce that it has been accredited by the National Commission on Correctional Health Care (NCCHC).

“I am very proud of our tremendous medical staff,” says Warden John Rathman. “It took a lot of hard work and dedication to receive this accreditation. More importantly, it takes medical staff who really care about the wellbeing and health of those we serve—and that’s what we have here at Imperial.”

The NCCHC was created in the early 1970s to improve and standardize healthcare services for incarcerated men and women. As described on its website, <https://www.ncchc.org/about>, the NCCHC is “committed to improving the quality of health care in jails, prisons and juvenile confinement facilities.”

In order to achieve NCCHC accreditation, a facility must demonstrate excellence in numerous areas of health care and commitment to providing quality care.

The Imperial Facility is the fourth MTC facility to achieve this accreditation.
