

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AWARDS MTC CONTRACT TO OPERATE SOUTH BRONX AND BROOKLYN JOB CORPS CENTERS

April 16, 2018

(NYC, New York) – Management & Training Corporation (MTC) is pleased to announce the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) has awarded MTC a five-year contract to operate the South Bronx and Brooklyn Job Corps centers effective April 1, 2018. MTC was founded on Job Corps and currently operates 22 centers nationwide.

“We are very pleased with this opportunity to educate and train students in New York City,” says MTC Regional Vice President Lynn Intrepidi. “MTC has decades of experience in education and training, and we look forward to providing students with excellent training that will lead them to success in the job market.”

Job Corps is a federal program administered by the Department of Labor and operated by companies like MTC. The South Bronx and Brooklyn centers are among 25 Job Corps centers in the country. The Job Corps program provides free education and training to 16-24-year old youth and young adults. For more information about Job Corps, visit <http://www.jobcorps.gov/home.aspx>.

MTC is also pleased to announce that Kendra Watson has been selected as center director of the South Bronx center and Danny Stoddard as the center director of the Brooklyn center. Intrepidi adds, “These two leaders have dozens of years of experience working with Job Corps students. They will do an outstanding job helping the young men and women at their centers prepare for success in their future careers.”

South Bronx Job Corps will serve 250 students providing training in pre-apprentice Home Builders Institute, clinical medical assistant, nurse assistant/home health aide, office administration, culinary arts, computer technician, security & protective services, facility maintenance, and advanced career training.

Brooklyn Job Corps will serve 145 students providing training in clinical medical assistant, nurse assistant/home health aide, computer technician, and security & protective services.
